

Figure 1: Left: a 2x2 texture storing control points for a quadratic Bezier curve in each color channel. Center: The same texture as viewed when using bilinear texture sampling. The yellow line indicates where texture samples are taken from to evaluate the quadratic Bezier curve. Right: The curves resulting from sampling along the yellow line (Alpha curve omitted).